Case, Word Order and Prominence Feb 26 2020 Language users have access to several sources of information during the build up of a meaningful construction. These include grammatical rules, situational knowledge, and general world knowledge. A central role in this process is played by the argument structure of verbs, which establishes the syntactic and semantic relationships between arguments. This book provides an overview of recent psycholinguistic and theoretical investigations on the interplay between structural syntactic relations and role semantics. The focus herein lies on the interaction of case marking and word order with semantic prominence features, such as animacy and definiteness. The interaction of these different sorts of information is addressed from theoretical, time-insensitive, and incremental perspectives, or a combination of these. Taking a broad cross-linguistic perspective, this book bridges the gap between theoretical and psycholinguistic approaches to argument structure.

Migration of the Ukrainian Population Jun 24 2022 Ukraine is a 'border' society, situated culturally and socio-politically between Eurasian and Euro-Atlantic poles of attraction. The influence of these two distinct cultures can be seen throughout Ukrainian society, but particularly in its patterns of migration. In this book, Dr hab. Y. Bilan analyses external migration from Ukraine using a system analysis approach combining econometric analysis and statistical modelling, historiographical and institutional analysis, and quantitative and qualitative sociological analysis with special attention to media discourse and congregational, demographic, gender and regional dimensions. The author's analysis builds on statistical data and a range of studies in English, Ukrainian, Russian and Polish, presenting the Ukrainian case as applicable to other border societies and beyond.

Subculturas del narcotráfico en América Latina. Realidades geoeconómicas y geopolíticas y la representación sociocultural de unas nuevas ética y estética en Colombia, México y Brasil Dec 26 2019 El fenómeno contemporáneo del narcotráfico —producción, transporte, consumo y prácticas estatales de prohibición y criminalización— de sustancias psicoactivas como la marihuana y la cocaína surge en América Latina después de la Segunda Guerra Mundial, específicamente en la década de 1960, y ha producido desde entonces profundas implicaciones políticas, económicas, sociales y culturales en las sociedades de América Latina y Norteamérica. No obstante, el resurgimiento moderno del tráfico de las sustancias psicoactivas estudiadas en el presente volumen (marihuana, cocaína-crack y heroína) no debe hacer olvidar al lector de dos hechos fundamentales relacionados con su origen y producción: primero, estas sustancias provienen de plantas (cannabis sativa, hoja de coca y amapola) que son procesadas químicamente para obtener, respectivamente, hachis-aceite de cannabis, cocaína-crack y heroína; y segundo, el origen de estas tres plantas alucinógenas se remonta al inicio de las sociedades tribales de Asia y América. La etimología del vocablo cannabis sativa o «cáñamo» proviene de China. Ciertamente, ya en el año 2737 a. C., el emperador de China Shen-Nung describió el uso médico de la marihuana en el tratamiento de la malaria y el reumatismo. «El cáñamo de marihuana» también se conoció en la antigua India y en la península Arábiga. De hecho, en el libro sagrado Zend Avesta, escrito por el profeta persa Zoroastro o Zaratustra, como se le conoce en español, aparece una lista de más de 10 000 plantas medicinales y, entre ellas, se nombra la marihuana como uno de los mejores remedios. Después la marihuana (del indú malihua) fue traída al Nuevo Mundo por los españoles aproximadamente en 1545, y su uso se propagó como medicina y alucinógeno en el resto de América Latina y en Estados Unidos.

Immigration and Entrepreneurship Apr 10 2021 Many nations invite foreigners to work within their borders, but few welcome them. Those countries that do receive a torrent of immigrants create pressures that analysts expect to intensify as population growth and social unrest mount in the less developed countries of the world. Immigration and Entrepreneurship, now in paperback, offers a comparative analysis of worldwide immigration issues while focusing more specifically on the emerging influence of entrepreneurship as a potent factor in the economic and social integration of immigrants. In linking the common immigrant and settler experiences with the upsurge in self-employment, the contributors to this volume use California as their base of comparison. The state has both a huge and varied immigrant population and an entrepreneurial economy that has facilitated the formation of immigrant-owned firms. The Los Angeles riots of the nineties indicated the volatility of the mix. Aided by ethnic and familial networks, such firms have served as a route of economic advancement. Immigration and Entrepreneurship offers a comparative perspective unique in the literature of immigration by broaching the topic from both global and local perspectives. Whereas most studies examine the experience of a single group or groups in a particular destination economy, this volume emphasizes variations in the way different nations receive immigrants as causes of differences in immigrant behavior. Among the innovative themes discussed by a range of international scholars are the entrepreneurial efforts and tensions in the garment industry in Los Angeles, Paris, and Berlin; Koreans' enterprise and identities in Los Angeles and Japan; and U.S. immigration policies. The result is a genuinely global methodology.
